Public Works Board Opposes Higher Rate For Street Lights

At last week's meeting of the Arlington Board of Selectmen and the Department of Public Works in a joint session, representatives of the Boston Edison Company were also on hand to discuss the proposed increase in the rate charged for street lighting in Arlington.

The Arlington Board opposes any increase which would cost the town an additional two thousand dollars per year, if granted.

The Edison company must first file such a request with the State Department of Public Utilities for a public hearing on the proposed increase, and any such increase must be approved by the latter Department before it can go into effect. Present at the conference were State Representatives Hollis M. Gott and Joseph McEvoy. Conferees of a like nature are being held simultaneously in all the forty communities in which street lighting is furnished by the Edison Company.

PARMENTER SCHOOL PUPILS WIN HONORS IN CAMBRIDGE

During the present school year the students of the Parmenter School have been taken on various field trips. Last fall the fourth grade youngsters were invited to visit the Boston Woven Hose and Rubber Plant in Cambridge on the invitation of one of the parents, Mr. Donald Johnston. Preparatory material was supplied by another father, Mr. Richard C. Marvin, who furnished samples of rubber and latex. During their actual visit to the company, the children surprised their hosts with the extensive knowledge they displayed, to the extent that their remarks will be used in future international advertising of the company. The samples were mounted and notes and charts were drawn up which were brought to the attention of Dr. John Read (Head of the Science Department at Boston University) who invited the entire grade with their exhibits to the University last Friday.

There were gathered children from elementary schools from Massachusetts with various scientific displays all actually used in their respective classrooms. It was one of the finest exhibitions of elementary workmanship seen. The children represented from Parmenter School were as follows: Edward Ashton, Darlene Austin, Robert Chapin, Stephen Chapman, Albert Connors, Ann Davidson, Patricia Des Champs, Ronald Fitzpatrick, David Heuser, Paul Higley, Stephen Homer, Susan Jeffery, Joan Margosian, Karen Marvin, John McCulloch, Paul McLay, Marshall Newton, Mary Pette, Nicholas Ruetter, Janice Rich, Joanne Robertson, Arsen Russian, Loraine Smith, Sandra Snow, David Widder, John Wilson, and William Wright. Relocation Of Route 60 Wins Favorable Reaction At Hearing

Would Ease Shopping Problems Here And Eliminate Traffic Overflow In Bypassing Center

A large group of citizens of Arlington representing the Pleasant street section and members of the Parmenter P. T. A. Association and other interested groups, attended the public hearing held on Wednesday before the Committee on Highways, at the State House on the bill filed by Representative Henry E. Keenan, of Arlington and John F. Fitzpatrick, of Medford.

Representative Keenan proposed that, starting at the corner of Pleasant street, Arlington, and the Concord Turnpike, Route 60 be changed to Route 60A and be labelled as a direct route to the North Shore. Pleasure vehicles only would then proceed over the Concord Turnpike to the Alewife Brook Parkway and continue along the Parkway, bypassing Medford Square, and connecting with a new highway to be built by the Metropolitan District Commission across the Medford marsh to tie in with the parkway now crossing the marshes in front of the radio station. This would be a direct route to tie in with the Revere Beach Parkway. At least ten minutes driving time would be saved by pleasure vehicles using this route around Arlington Center and Medford Square, both while going north and on return travelling west.

He also recommended that in Arlington Center all traffic emerging from Pleasant street be routed to circle the Central Fire Station on the short strip of roadway between Massachusetts Avenue and Broadway before entering Medford street. This would cause much of the traffic, both pleasure and commercial, to divide at this rotary, using Mass.

achusetts Avenue, Broadway and side streets below the Center to reach their desired routes. In reverse, he recommended that Chestnut Street be made one way out from Medford Street and Mystic Street, one way out into Arlington Center from Chestnut Street. At present Chestnut Street is one way out on Sunday mornings.

It was also pointed out, although it was not a matter before the committee, that Arlington could re-route much of its through traffic by changing route signs on the outskirts of Arlington to take advantage of the proposed changes.

State Chairman Christian A. Herter, Jr., of the 1950 Heart campaign to raise in Massachusetts the sum of $350,000 and $6,000,000 nationally to finance the Heart Association's program of research, education and community service, in launching the drive from February 1, through February 28th, makes the following statement:

"I have never seen a fund raising drive which has such wholehearted approval as the Heart Campaign," said Mr. Herter. "Wherever we seek the cooperation of organized groups we receive complete and sympathetic support immediately. The doctors who conduct the research and educational and community services programs of the Heart Association and the lay people who are trying to help raise the money essential to conducting and expanding that program are very pleased to learn how well the general public and their associations and organizations recognize the need and the personal benefit to be derived from successful program by every citizen."

Arlington War Veteran Dies In Cambridge Crash

One Arlington war veteran and a Cambridge buddy perished early Friday morning on Harvard bridge in Cambridge after the car in which they were riding struck a truck carrying high test gasoline. The dead were Henry T. Fawcett, 25 of 23 Alfred road, Arlington, and Fred Luongo, 29 of 77 Washington Elms, Cambridge.

Critically burned and injured and on the danger list at Cambridge city hospital was Henry V. Tivnan, 22 of 31 Wood st., Cambridge who was pulled from the blazing wreckage by Frank Fullerton, 37 of 22 Wyman st., Arlington, a passerby at the scene.

The two victims and Tivnan were riding in the car as it sped past a cruising car in Central square Cambridge. The cruiser started after the speeding car, headed toward Boston, to warn them to slow down.

Patrolmen Regan, Story and Doyle riding in the cruiser, were gaining on the fast moving machine as it approached Harvard Bridge. As the car approached the bridge, an oil truck driven by William L. Kelly of Winthrop, was also turning onto the bridge. The officers saw the car, which was travelling too fast to stop, career into the oil truck. Flames shot into the air as Kelly jumped free of his cab. The police radioed for ambulances and two alarms were sounded for apparatus to extinguish the ensuing blaze.

Fullerton, who was walking at the scene of the accident, ran through the flames and dragged the burned body of Tivnan from the then flaming wreckage.

Funeral services were held on Monday from the Church of Our Saviour (Episcopal) in Arlington, with the Rev. Warren N. Bixby, the rector, officiating.

Burial was in Mount Pleasant cemetery, Arlington.

Plan Memorial Service At Grave Of Jason Russell

At the recent meeting of the Arlington Patriot's Day committee, held on January 23rd, in the Old Town Hall, it was decided to hold a flag raising program and also a memorial service, at the grave of Jason Russell, on the morning of April 19th. The committee on these arrangements included William Craig, Horace Homer, and Mrs. John S. Sampson.

In charge of the details of the parade itself, are Horace Homer and members of his committee including G. Bonney, J. Thompson, Mr. Stanley R. Kingman, T. A. Widger, William Craig and James Summer.

At the request of the Arlington Board of Selectmen, the night of the meeting of the committee is now changed in order that the Selectmen may be in attendance.

Removal Of Old Town Hall Mooted Question

According to the layout showing the plans for solving Arlington's traffic problems, recently made public by the Arlington Planning Board, the matter of the Old Town Hall, seems to be a much mooted question. According to the general expression of feeling at the meeting, the removal of the structure is not in any way essential. Labeled a "monstrosity" by many, Mr. Abbott of the Planning Board stated at the meeting - "Whether the building stands or comes down, makes no difference whatever to the Planning Board. Most of the people we have talked to seem to favor its removal."

UNDER NEW CHANGES. LAND TAKINGS WOULD BE SLIGHT

Chairman Abbott of the Arlington Planning Board, at the recent meeting held in regard to the proposed Center improvements, pointed out that the land takings would involve a small amount of private property.

The recent assessor valuations on all the privately owned properties is under $50,000 and Mr. Abbott stated that according to an informal guess made by an out of town highway engineering firm, the total cost of the sidewalks, roadways, curbs and drainage would be less than $150,000. It is of course anticipated that the State and County both will share in the expense, because of the fact that the important Routes 3 and 60 are involved, and also because most of the traffic is not local.

An article will therefore appear in the warrant of the annual Town meeting to obtain the go-ahead green light vote from the Town Meeting members.

NOTES ANNIVERSARY

Congratulations and best wishes to Mrs. Alice (Nolan) O'Donnell, who on Sunday celebrated her ninety birthday. Her daughter, Mrs. John T. Ker, observed the occasion by giving her mother a birthday surprise party at their home, 12 Harvard street, Arlington Heights.

Enjoying the best of health, Mrs. O'Donnell gets out every day and keeps busy around the house with reading and crocheting.

A native of Bath, Maine, she grew up in East Cambridge, and has resided in Arlington for nearly 58 years. She is a Gold Star Mother of World War One, and is a charter member, both of the Women's Auxiliary, Arlington Post No. 39 American Legion, and the Cambridge Chapter of World War Mothers.

Robert A. Jutstrom, 27, Diesel engine man first class, U.S.N. R., of 16 Pelham Terrace, Arlington has reported for duty with the Organized Submarine Division 1-10 of the U.S. Naval Reserve, Boston.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPT. GOES ALL OUT IN BATTLING STORM

Combating the first real snowstorm of the season, and in readiness for an anticipated further storm scheduled for Wednesday night and Thursday, the Arlington Public Works Department, has gone all out with its full quota of snow plows, snow loaders, snow fighters, tractors, sanders, including full crew of workers and shovels, who worked throughout the entire night and on Tuesday, to keep the highways of Arlington clear, and to prepare for the busy rush of traffic through the town during daylight hours.

The great test for the snow fighters, under loan from the Eastern Massachusetts Railway Company, which were put to work with almost miraculous results, proved spectacular and so satisfactory that the expenditure for the purchase of such equipment as embodied in an article in the warrant under the head of "Capital Outlay for the Public Works Department", to come before the March Town Meeting will no doubt meet with the instant approval of the members. These trucks, with four wheel drives, equipped with blades on front, not only plow the snow, but sand in practically the same operation. They are in constant and satisfactory use by the State on all its highways.

The small sidewalk tractors (nine in number), which also have proved their value many times over not only plow the sidewalks but push the snow into the path of the snow loaders, thus expediting the work of the latter to a considerable extent.

The Department of Public Works is appreciative of the cooperation of the Park Department, and the office of the Arlington Tree Warden, which departments, as in previous years, have given willingly of their trucks, and equipment which usually are used for other work, to expedite the plowing and sanding of the streets in the storm emergencies arising.

"Organization Chart"

Norman MacDonald executive director, Taxpayers Federation, points to a chart outlining in detail the statutory organization of the executive branch of the State government which he presented to Senator Chester A. Dolan, left, while Edward A. Sherman, executive director of the Massachusetts Committee for the Hoover report, center, and Edmund F. Wright, executive assistant, office of the president, John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., look on. The biggest and most complete chart of its kind ever made, it was prepared by the Taxpayers Federation for use by the Special Commission on the Structure of the State Government, of which Senator Dolan is chairman.

Many In Favor Of Outdoor Swim Pool

A hearing was held on January 25, 1950 at the State House before the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs on House Bill No. 875, the Petition of Representative Joseph F. McEvoy, Jr., of Somerville that the Metropolitan District Commission be authorized to construct an outdoor swimming pool in the City of Somerville.

The Bill of Representative McEvoy called for the construction of locker rooms, wading pool and playing equipment as well as the swimming pool on Alewife Brook Parkway near the intersection of Somerville.

In addressing the Committee Representative McEvoy stated in part: "The residents of West Somerville and East Arlington and especially the young children of the section desire this play center and it can be located in a spot which can be easily reached by all parties desiring to use the site."

Also recorded in favor of the Bill were Representative Corbett of Somerville; Representative Keenan of Arlington; Representative Catino, Doherty and Fitzpatrick of Medford.

The Citizens Committee at last week's meeting named five members of their group to the important Qualifications Committee. The two members nominated and elected from the floor, are John Wright and Francis Pierce. The three men appointed by the Citizens' Committee are John O'Neill, William Houser and John Mulcahy.

It was also voted to change the by-laws to include an assistant corresponding secretary. The Committee tabled two other proposed amendments - one to provide for a seven man qualifications committee and the other, withdrawing the Committee's endorsement of a candidate who supports any other candidate not endorsed.

Adventure At Spy Pond

On Sunday afternoon an Addison street resident reported to the Arlington police, that at least two boys had apparently fallen from a rowboat in Spy Pond. Officers Charles Scanlon, John Donovan, George Alexie and Timothy Hourihan, taking a fire department ladder truck with them, were dispatched to the scene. Upon their arrival they found John Vento, 13 of 58 Silk street, and John Brown, 14 of 51 Silk street, paddling the pond in a makeshift boat with hockey sticks. Upon being asked if anyone had fallen from their boat, they replied in the negative. The boys were summarily dispatched home by the police officers, thus making at least a safe ending to their adventure.

SCOUTS HOLD AMATEUR AND PARENTS' NIGHT

On Monday evening January 30th, at the Church of Our Saviour, Marathon street, East Arlington, a meeting of Troop 9 Boy and Explorer Scouts was held by Director Charles F. Foster. The feature of the meeting was a talent contest among the schools of East Arlington. Robert Shea, at the piano, won first prize while Barbara Judd placed second. In addition to the Scout members and their parents, many friends and guests were in attendance.

A unique feature of the program was a contest to guess the number of drops in a bottle of 7-up. Mrs. Susan Maloney of the Home Development Department of the Seven-Up Bottling Company served refreshments at the meeting and conducted the prize contest. The party was divided into three groups - the parents and friends, visiting Scouts and the local Scout. Paul Novelli, 76 River street, Arlington, made the closest guess for the Scout group while Barbara Judd of 79 Harlow street, won for the visitors group and Mr. H. B. Kellogg of 34 Cleveland street was the winner in the parents' group. The final part of the entertainment was an excellent comic moving picture show.

The new John A. Bishop school, located on a parcel of land formerly a part of the old Crosby Farms, on Mystic street, Arlington, is scheduled to open its doors on or about April first, for the accommodation of at least three hundred of its pupils.

The building is of brick construction, and comprises two sections. In one are housed eight classrooms, kindergarten, library, offices, etc. A modified cafeteria is also included, together with ample storage rooms.

Part of the furnishings for the new school has already arrived in town, and it is hoped that it will be moved into place about the first of March.

The committee, states Chairman Harold M. Estabrook, of the special building group, plans to hold an open house on a Saturday and Sunday following the completion of the school building, in order that the public may have an opportunity to inspect all the details of the new building.

This school will serve children residing in the exclusive Morningside section, as well as adjoining areas most of whom now attend the old Russell school on Medford street.

It is hoped that by April first, the first group of about 300 pupils may be able to move into the new building. The contractors on the project, Bossi Construction Company, Inc., expect to wind up their work within thirty days, leaving ample time for the finishing of the inside work in time for early spring occupancy.

RELOCATION—

tage of the state roads and parkways around Arlington.

It has been pointed out that 75 percent of the traffic that now passes through Arlington is out of town traffic using Arlington streets to reach a destination the other side of Arlington. This, therefore, would give easier access to our streets for shoppers in Arlington and encourage those to shop there who now avoid the Centre because of its congested streets. Much of this could be accomplished at little expense other than the changing of a few signs and make it less convenient for through traffic to operate through our town by the use of our already crowded streets. The other advantage would be that through traffic by the suggested change of signs, would make better time getting around Arlington.

In the opinion of the Representative, this program should be started at once to relieve the present congestion and he believes that upon completion of Route 128 further traffic relief on through traffic will be given by this circumferential highway.

Pointers For Veterans

1. Hold the check or the proceeds of the check for two months, if possible. In that period of time you (and your wife if you're married) will have plenty of time to decide what part will be placed in a savings bank or invested in U. S. Savings Bonds.

2. If you are in debt take plenty of time to determine which debts should be liquidated in whole or in part at an early date where honor or a definite promise is concerned and which should be handled in the usual instalment fashion.

3. Remember that your dividend check represents the return of your own hard earned money, the wages of blood, sweat and tears expended on some battlefield or fighting ship of the Navy. It is not a Bonus. It is your own contribution returned to you. Do not waste it on temporary pleasures. When the auto or television salesman calls on you, fend him off for a while and consider carefully the short life and high cost of both luxuries.

4. Watch out for scheming investment advisors and bond and stock salesmen. Don't fool with them at all unless you are sure of your ground.

Instruction Available At Weekly Square Dance

Many beginners have attended recent square dances held by the Park Department and have arrived after the instruction period has ended. This spoils dancing for later sets doing the more difficult steps.

Beginning Thursday evening, January 26, at the Junior High East, the following schedule was followed for instruction. A general review in all the fundamentals with instructions began at 8:00 p.m. All beginners must be on the dance

From 9:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. new and progressively more difficult square dances and contra dances will be taught. Those who attend the dances as beginners should not participate in these more difficult dances unless they have taken the initial instruction period.

So plan to swing your partner in grand style at the Junior High East. The above schedule will be in effect. Re: Instruction until further notice.

ARLINGTON IN EASY WIN OVER BELMONT

By Frank Mahoney
DEFENDING CHAMPION Arlington High, led by Bob Babine and Bill Doherty, swept over a hapless Belmont High 5-0 before some 3000 fans at the Garden Saturday afternoon.

THE WIN definitely makes Arlington the team to beat in the Greater Boston League for it places the Red and Gray in a tie with Medford for second place, and the win by both Rindge and Melrose ties these two teams for top place in the league.

THE TOP BRASS of the G. B. L. will meet this week to decide the opponents in the playoffs which start next Saturday. Coach Eddie Burns hopes that Don O'Brien and Bill Meehan will put on the same fine performance that they staged in the playoffs last year which, incidentally, won Arlington the title.

THE TWO LEAD men of the baby line were the heavy scorers in Saturday's conquest of Belmont. Bob Babine and Bill Doherty combined to score the first three Arlington Goals. Tallies by Harvey Wyman and Scott Coolidge were furnished in the final thirty seconds of play.

Girl Scouts Burn Mortgage

With simple but impressive exercises the Arlington Girl Scouts, Camp Menotomy, at their annual meeting and dinner held on Tuesday evening, in the vestry of the Unitarian Church, celebrated the burning of the mortgage on Camp Menotomy, symbolizing payment in full of the obligation, before a large and enthusiastic group of members and friends of the organization. The toastmaster was Albert Wenderley, long-time supporter of the camp. Mrs. Harold Yeames, a member of the committee which chose the site in New Hampshire for the camp, gave a most interesting and complete history of the camp. Mrs. Yeames has since remained a loyal and interested supporter of the organization since that time.

Among those attending were: Barbara Gaudet, representing the Brownies; Betty Center, of the Scouts; Mrs. Lee Cursey Klein, representing the "old campers", each of whom spoke briefly of their camp memories and experiences. Joining in the mortgage burning ceremony were Rita Egan Penny Keatley, Marcia Moltman, Betty Center, Barbara Muller, Mona Shute, Sarah Weston, Marianne Wood, Margaret Whitehouse and Patricia Cox.

VOLUNTEER WORKERS GREATLY NEEDED FOR RED CROSS WORK

Graduate nurses in local federal and civilian hospitals are about the busiest people in the world and their work is about the most important - caring for the ill and injured. They are constantly in need of assistance to lighten their daily tasks.

Volunteer Red Cross Nurse's aides are the answer to this need. They assist the graduate nurse in the physical care of patients and perform many minor tasks that relieve the trained nurse for more technical duties.

The Red Cross volunteer Gray Lady performs very essential non-nursing duties, such as assisting patients in clinics, hospital libraries and at information desks.

The continual need for volunteer Nurse's Aides, Gray Ladies and Staff Aides in Greater Boston Hospitals and at the new Massachusetts Regional Blood Center calls for hundreds of new volunteers. Brief training courses will be starting shortly.

If there are any women in Greater Boston, with a few free hours, mornings or afternoons, one day a week who would like to participate in this vital volunteer work, they should call the Boston Metropolitan Chapter of Red Cross at Kenmore 6-6226 or call at Chapter Headquarters, 17 Gloucester street for further information on these services.

Police Car Does Rescue Duty

POLICE RADIO dispatches the scout car to the scene of an accident. The victim is placed on a stretcher and rushed to medical attention without the delay of waiting for an ambulance. The light-weight "collapsible" fits under the back seat when not in use.

MANY COMMUNITIES have solved their emergency ambulance problem with the Kaiser Traveler, a utility sedan which doubles for police patrol and rescue duty. The back seat folds away, providing space for a full-size stretcher.

WITH REAR DOORS CLOSED, the victim receives first aid en route to the hospital. The compartment is seven feet long with ample width for resuscitator and other rescue equipment. (Photos are posed.)

Miss Lois Estabrook Bride Of Ens. Bradford

One of the loveliest of the mid-winter marriages took place on Saturday afternoon, at the First Baptist Church in Arlington, when Miss Lois Jackson Estabrook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Estabrook, of Gray street, became the bride of Ensign Ralph James Bradford, Jr., USNR, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph James Bradford, of Lansdowne, Pa.

The bride was radiant in a wedding gown of white satin, with net insert, at the neckline, fringed in seed pearls, and with court train. A bouquet of white sweet peas with orchid center, completed her costume.

The matron of honor was Mrs. David C. Chamberlain, of Contoocook, N. H. She was gown in gold velveteen, with sweetheart neckline, and full skirt. Talisman roses completed her costume. The bridesmaids, Miss Nancy Buttrick and Miss Joy Biathrow, both of this town, wore similar gowns of emerald green velveteen, and carried yellow roses.

A niece of the bride, Martha Chamberlain was flower girl, and wore a rose velveteen gown with round neckline and long, full skirt. The best man was Ensign Allan J. Knight, of Howell, Michigan. The ushers included Ensign Bruce Gar-linghouse, USN, of Landsing, Mich; and Ensign Thomas W. Cuddy, USN., of West Brookfield, Mass. After the ceremony, a wedding reception was held in the parlors of the church, following which the couple left on a wedding trip to the Pocono Mountains. Following their return, Ensign and Mrs. Bradford will make their home at Norfolk, Virginia.

The bride was a graduate of the Arlington high school, and of Linden Hall Junior College. The bridegroom is a graduate of the U. S. Maritime Academy at King's Joint, N. Y., and served as a member of the Merchant Marines during the last war.

Co-chairmen of the affair were Mrs. Ida Coppinger and Mrs. Alma Abbott. They were ably assisted by a committee consisting of Mrs. Shirley Coffee, Mrs. Arlene Hoar, Mrs. Mary Karpinski, and Mrs. Katherine Kelleher.

Mr. and Mrs. Forbes upon their return from a short wedding trip, will make their home at 100 Magazine street, Cambridge.

Maintenance Workers In Daring Rescue Of Canine

James O'Leary and James Carmody, traffic maintenance workers, doubled as police officers on Friday and used a Roy Rogers method to rescue a struggling canine from the icy waters of Spy Pond.

The two men, employed in maintaining traffic signs in and around the town, were at the police station on Friday morning, when a woman telephoned that a dog was drowning in the waters of Spy Pond. Lt. Thomas Sullivan in checking his cruising cars, found that they both were busy about town on details. Carmody and O'Leary, however, volunteered to go to the Pond and see what they could do in the line of rescue work.

Arriving at the pond, they saw the dog struggling some twenty feet offshore in the icy water. Both men climbed out on the limb of a nearby willow tree, which overhung the water. O'Leary twirled the rope a la rodeo, and was lucky enough to encircle the dog on the first try. Carmody proceeded to back down off the limb, and the men together hauled the pup to safety and dry ground. After getting the dog on shore, they wrapped it in a blanket and took it to the boiler room of the police station until it was thoroughly re-covered from its ordeal, awaiting its owner's arrival.

Before the rescuers departed on their regular duties, they received the congratulations of Lt. Sullivan and the other officers, for their performance over and above the call of duty.

"Gerry And The Cat" Or "The Old Town Hall Mystery"

Gerry Cusack, the genial custodian of the old Town Hall, had been going about his duties in his usual efficient manner when, early last week, the owner of the waiting room concession complained that a cat somewhere in the basement was disturbing the patrons with its howling and wailing. Soon other tenants were adding their complaints. Gerry searched the basement and found nothing. There was not even a sound. He gave up the search feeling that someone was spoofing him. However, on the next day there were more complaints. From the waiting room, the beauty parlor and the Girl Scout office came emergency calls in frantic tones. "Do something quick!" "That cat is driving us crazy!"

Again Gerry took up the search, this time a little impatiently, for Gerry puts in a full day of toil each day and extra work is not exactly welcomed. This time Gerry heard the wailing of the cat and realized that he was not being victimized. He searched and searched but the cat could not be located. Wall panels were tapped and some removed but still no tabby. The wailing ceased and Gerry began to think that he had imagined hearing the sounds. Just as he was giving up in disgust he again heard the wailing and squawling. Should he again take up the search? Why not call the Animal Rescue League and let its feline experts handle the problem?

Within an hour the Animal Rescue League truck was on the scene with two attendants who used all their tricks in an effort to lure the cat from its hiding place without success. They then left a trap baited with catnip and tasty cat food and went their way promising to return the next day and pick up the cat.

On the following day the trap was still there open and baited, but no cat was to be seen. Maybe Tabby could not be seen but her wail could be plainly heard. She wouldn't be lured. What was Gerry going to do now? Another bright thought came to him. Artist Dahl's cats had lived the monotonous days of many a suburban fire department. Why not call Chief Tierney and lay the problem before him. In no time and found him to be sympathetic and co-operative. The chief dispatched the rescue and the signal trucks to the scene and followed in his own car. A working party entered the basement armed with axes and other tools and commenced tearing out panels at the spot Gerry had heard the wails. While they picked and chopped and tore there was not a sound from the cat. The Animal Rescue League trap was still there un sprung. They examined the basement and walls thoroughly and not only found no cat but found no place where it could possibly hide if it were there. No possible route of escape was found. So, the recall order was given and back to the checker games and hooked rugs went the fire laddies.

Was the cat indeed a phantom? Back to his labors went Gerry and, eventually, to his home for an evening of well earned rest undisturbed by the howls of stray cats and the complaints of tenants. But he was hardly seated in his favorite chair when the jangle of the telephone bell aroused him. It was the waiting room calling. The counter clerks and the patrons were being driven crazy by the wails of the cat, he was told. Wearing his trusty Chevy and whirled back to the Old Town Hall. Again the Fire Department was called. This time the firemen could hear the wails of the cat. They poked about and listened and finally located the cat imprisoned behind a marble slab under the front entrance. When released, the cat was so stiff from cold and hunger that it could hardly walk. It was very meek and docile and went willingly with the firemen to the warmth and plenty of the Fire Headquarters. The large crowd which had been drawn to the scene by the noise of the apparatus gave the firemen a cheer and went its way. But, best of all, the mystery of the Old Town Hall had been solved.

New Plans Would Give Added Parking Space

The traffic survey, recently conducted by the Arlington police department last May and June, showed that north and south bound traffic along Pleasant street, is 75 per cent "through" traffic, with its origin and destination outside the limits of the town of Arlington. One of the intents of the new proposed plans for traffic control at the Center is designed to facilitate this transient flow.

The three lanes or arteries outlined in the recent plans made public by the Planning Board would divide the Peirce and Winn parking lot into three large areas. One area will be located at the upper end of Mystic street as it now exists adjacent to the sidewalk now fronting the small group of stores there, and this area, the smallest of the three, will accommodate 35 cars.

The second area is bounded by the "new" Mystic street addition and the Chestnut-Prentiss street "extension", and will provide space

Arlington Veterans Warned To Guard Insurance Dividends

The postal officials are joining with the Veterans Administration authorities in cautioning veterans throughout the area to keep their mailboxes locked, and to remove mail from them promptly to prevent theft of G. I. insurance dividend checks, which will now be arriving in this area.

About fourteen thousand New England veterans will receive their checks shortly, officials in Washington announce. Two agencies - The United States Treasury Department, and the Veterans Administration are now mailing an average of two hundred thousand checks out daily.

The $2,600,000,000 bonanza - greater by far than the terminal leave payments - is expected to be completed sometime in June, when close to 16,000,000 veterans will have been paid off in amounts ranging from under one dollar to a maximum of $528.

The postal authorities also urge all veterans to keep their mailboxes locked and to remove all mail from such boxes promptly. Storekeepers and banks have been warned to be on the alert for forgeries and to demand positive identification from prospective check cashers.

The chronological order in which veterans may expect to receive their money, is based on the last three digits in the service serial numbers. In cases where the veteran had two serial numbers, that of an enlisted man and an officer, two checks are being sent.

With the multi-million dollar influx of checks into the Greater Boston area during the next few months, Secret Service agents, postal officials as well as V A authorities, have issued warnings against mass check thefts and forgeries.

Arlington veterans are also warned by the Administrator Armour, of the Arlington VA, to guard against investing in so-called "Good Investment" and "Luxury" items, such as automobiles, television sets etc., as many promoters of wild-cat schemes and non-essentials to say nothing of notoriously "bad" investments, are hot on the trail of the veterans who are now coming into tidy sums of money.

Boy's Club Assembly A Great Success

Twenty-eight boys proudly paraded onto the Boys' Club gym floor Saturday morning, holding aloft twenty-eight signs, each sign bearing the name of a group club. They lined up across the floor, and with club signs held high, joined with the audience in singing "God Bless America", bringing to a close the Boys' Club's first Club Assembly.

Boys' Club's famous cartoon character "Snubby" (drawn by Bob Munstedt for the weekly "Target") came to life in the person of a seven year old boy. Boys of the American Club were unpacked from a large box apparently sent from Key West and labeled Coconuts. Once out of the box they sang the current Coconuts song. Luke O'Halloran, Shawn O'Halloran, Richard Mahoney, Walter McGrath and Americal president Warren McAdoo were the coconuts.

A group Club machine, guaranteed to make first class clubs, was demonstrated, and after initial failures, explosions and much noise, produced a ten-boy Hobo Club. Out of the machine came John Crowley, Jim Lowder, Bob Constantino, Don Constantino, Dave Schajbe, Tom Farrell, Jim Harney, Rene Robillard, Bob Nickerson, John Doncaster and Phil Perry.

Eleven year old Bob Young amazed the assembly audience by his remarkable mind-reading feat. Boy singers were Bill and Bob St. George, Alan Caswell and Ronald Sousa, Paul Hogan, Dan Scirocco and David Wright (of the Wranglers) paddled a canoe, singing the Indian Paddle Song.

Jim Curtin, President of all the Group Clubs, welcomed the visitors to the Assembly. Warren MacAdoo and Bill Dr'nan worked as clowns. Bob Munstedt, head of the Arlington Boys' Club Wranglers, presented Alex, the dummy, and a new creation called the "Missing Link".

Juvenile Delinquency Reaches Startling Peak Here For Month

Juvenile delinquency reached a rather startling peak in Arlington during the past twelve days. Nine lads between the ages of 14 and 17 were arrested by Arlington and State police for a series of breaks into stores and automobiles.

On Saturday night, January 21, Officer George G. Alexie reported that the Morningside Pharmacy, 471 Summer street, Arlington, owned by Benjamin Fieldstein, had been broken into, entrance being gained by breaking the transom over the front door.

Later, two juveniles, one from Somerville and one from Cambridge were arrested for speeding. Police found a quantity of cigars and cigarettes, as well as a sum of money, in the car, and brought the youths to the station.

The boys were questioned by inspectors and admitted breaking into the drug store. They also admitted breaking into the Lake street Railroad Station some months ago. The lads claimed that another boy, a soldier, was also in on the robbery. Police inspectors went to Fort Banks Winthrop to arrest the latter for questioning.

When asked what they intended to do with the loot, the boys said they planned to fence it off in Somerville to one Az'e Halaky who runs a store on Webster ave. Arlington police went to Somerville to question the man, who stated that he thought the things that he bought were Christmas presents. Halaky was taken into custody and on Tuesday morning was fined a paltry $20.00 in criminal court for receiving stolen goods.

As police were questioning the boys on Saturday night, the burglar alarm at Alston's Store in the center rang. Officers Timothy Hourihan and Francis Cook answered the alarm and as then entered the front door, a young boy ran out the back door. Officer Hourihan gave chase and caught the boy who claimed that he had done nothing.

Police said that entrance had been gained to the store through a rear cellar window. The youth was taken to the station and under questioning admitted that he had broken into the store and he also said that he broke into the Regent Delicatessen at 305 Broadway, Arlington, earlier in the evening. Nothing was taken from either store.

While Arlington Police were pondering over the sudden increase in our delinquency rate, state police reported on Monday that they had arrested two boys who were implicated in some 60 to 90 robberies in and about Boston, including Arlington. Inspectors were sent to the Concord barracks to see how many Arlington breaks these lads had participated in.

This sudden outbreak of petty crimes seemed to have subsided when on Friday night, January 27, Ambrose Gott of the Stevens Plumbing Co., 77 Dudley st., Boston, telephoned and reported that someone had stolen $300 worth of plumbing supplies from a house under construction at 77 Waverly street, Arlington. Inspectors were immediately assigned to the case.

Later Friday night, William O'Brien, 2496 Mystic Valley Parkway reported that someone had just broken into his car near 23 Water street, and stolen $12.00 worth of groceries. The desk officer had no sooner put the telephone back on the hook when Mrs. Miano, 488 Summer street, called and reported $10.00 worth of groceries stolen from the back seat of her car, which was parked outside of 67 Palmer street, Arlington.

A radio call was sent Officer Timothy Hourihan in car No. 7 to investigate this sudden increase in car burglaries. Officer Hourihan reported that he had already found the groceries in a lot at Prescott and Winslow streets and was pursuing three youths whom he thought acted suspiciously. The boys were caught and admitted the thefts. They were turned over to Somerville police to be returned to their homes.

Chief Archie Bullock warns that teen-agers be not unduly impressed by the seemingly clean get-away that criminals make in the comic books nor by the recent escapade of the Brinks bandits. The comic book heroes are pure fiction. The Brink bandits will be caught and brought to justice the same as any other common criminal and after a few hours of grilling they will not seem like such big-shots and heroes. The Chief adds that while many youths are impressed by seeing their names in newspapers the only time when a boy should be pleased to read his name in the paper, is when he has done a deed that makes him a credit to the community, rather than an enemy of society.

Capt. Green To Address MMC

State Debt: This cartoon, prepared by the Taxpayers' Federation, shows how the State debt has risen from $14,000,000 to $293,000,000 in the past five years. The Federation warned the legislature that unless it stops the "unsound and irresponsible" practice of voting bonds without providing a way for paying for them, the Commonwealth is in for "serious financial trouble."

Two Arlington Youths Rescued From Death

Two Arlington boys, William F. Connors, 9, of 220 Broadway, Arlington, and Douglas S. Martell, 8, of 54 Tufts street, Arlington, were rescued from drowning at Spy Pond on Saturday afternoon, by John H. Emerson, of 44 Hopkins street, Cambridge. Emerson crawled out on the ice to a hole 125 feet off-shore, where the youngsters had broken through the thin ice while attempting to walk out to the island in the center of the pond. He pulled them out with the aid of a push broom.

The hero, whose house overlooks the pond, chanced to look out the window and saw an arm sticking up from the freshly broken hole in the ice. Running through the cellar, he ran about two hundred yards from his house to the shore of the pond, and started onto the ice, crawling carefully to the edge where the two boys were floundering, each trying to help the other keep afloat. He pushed the broom into the water and hooked it under the arm of one of the boys. With difficulty he hauled the lad out onto the ice beside him. The other lad, Emerson did not know which boy he pulled out first - disappeared below the water, but Emerson fished down with the push broom and succeeded in catching it under the boy's arm. In turn, the second boy was pulled out onto the solid ice.

Sunday night, the boys were reported recovering from the narrow escape from drowning, thanks to the heroism of a nearby Cambridge resident, and apparently none the worse for their harrowing experience.

Less than half an hour later, Richard LaRose, 13, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maitland F. LaRose, of 37 Brookford street, North Cambridge broke through the ice off the Linwood street beach, half a mile from the scene of the first rescue, but was able to reach shore unassisted.

They have been script man and wife of NBC's highly Hooperated "When a Girl Marries" for nearly 11 years through turbulent ups-and-downs. In real-life they are actors John Raby and Mary Jane Higby. Their favorite Both John and Mary Jane are happily married off-mike, John to a non-professional, Mary Jane to actor Guy Sorel.

NEW TO FAMILY
Jimmy Stewart: Latest newcomer to radio's Sunday evening (CBS) "Family Hour of Stars." He will alternate in starring roles with five other members of the program's dramatic company—

Dana Andrews, Kirk Douglas, Irene Dunne, Jane Wyman and Loretta Young. James Maitland Stewart has been movie-making 15 years. His lesser known accomplishments are that of expert magician and accordion player. Indiana Pa. born, he maintains a rural philosophy on his fame as an actor. "If I hadn't been at some particular place at some particular time," he reasons, "and some man hadn't happened to say so-and-so, I hadn't answered this-and-that, I'd still be hunting a job in an architect's office."
